Hint Pacific Fleet Bait to Lure Japs

By RAY RICHARDS
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Systematic procedure to determine if the grouped fleet in Pearl Harbor was used as bait to draw Japan into a hostile act was decided on today by the four Republican minority members of the congressional investigating committee. They insisted American actions in the days preceding Pearl Harbor contributed as if by synchronization to success of the Japanese blow.

Each Republican said he was not yet prepared to assert as fact so grim a charge as deliberate intent in Washington to clear the way for the Japanese stroke.

Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart (R.) of California cited these circumstances up to the hour the attack started:

1—Radio silence was imposed on all U. S. fleet units at sea in the week before Pearl Harbor.

2—The Army ceased its customary dawn patrols to sea around Hawaii a week before the attack and there was not even a limited Navy patrol from the Islands on Dec. 6, 1941, or on Dec. 7.

3—A flight of Army B-17 planes was started from Oakland at a time which took them into Hawaii while the attack was under way, and a commercial radio station was instructed to stay on all night to provide the planes with a beam. It also provided a beam all night for the Japanese.

4 — On the day before the striking force left Japan, orders were issued for all American shipping to use the southern route to Hawaii, instead of the northern route along which the Japanese flotilla proceeded.

5—Soldiers practicing radar reception at Poana Point, northernmost promontory of Oahu, were under orders to shut off their instruments at 7 a. m. On the fatal morning they continued past the permitted time. At 7:02 a. m. the Japanese planes were detected. They reported to headquarters but nothing was done.

6—Messages from Tokyo to the Japanese Embassy in Washington understood by U. S. authorities because the code had been solved, clearly indicated possibility of a sunrise attack on Hawaii.

7—All U. S. battleships in the Pacific had been grouped behind the narrow entrance to Pearl Harbor.

Kimmel's Order For Battleships To Pair Up Cited

WASHINGTON, Nov 19 (INS)—The Pearl Harbor investigating committee was told today Adm. Husband E. Kimmel issued the order that Pacific Fleet battleships should be "tied up in pairs" at the naval base.

The battleships were in that position when the Jap bombing planes attacked.

R. Adm. T. B. Inglis, Navy intelligence chief, disclosed under cross-examination the berthing order was contained in a circular letter from Kimmel, later suspended.

The committee announced former Sec. Hul would be called to testify this week if his health permits.

Earlier Bertrand Gearhart (R.) of California refused to divulge the name of an "informant" who told him the cruiser Boise sighted the Jap task force before the attack on Honolulu.

Rep. John W. Murphy (D.) of Pennsylvania, evoked an intercommittee squabble when he demanded the commanding officer of the Boise and Gearhart's "informant" testify. Sen. Scott Lucas (D.) of Illinois said the name of the "informant" should be given to the committee.

Decision to delve into diplomatic details surrounding the 1941 disaster was disclosed as the committee opened its fourth day of testimony.

Sen. Ferguson revealed he had asked that any United States pre-war plans for an attack on Tokyo, Truk or other Jap bases be given the committee.

Sen. Ferguson questioned Adm. Inglis repeatedly on why the Navy had not used information in the decoded diplomatic messages and the pre-Pearl Harbor espionage reports in preparing its summary of the Japanese attack plan.

Ferguson questioned Inglis on why he had accepted and used the report that the final attack signal was "climb Mt. Niitaka" and had not used other information that the Jap espionage agents used "want ads" broadcast over Hawaiian radio station KGWB to give last-minute data to the enemy.

Inglis explained the "climb Mt. Niitaka" signal was confirmed from another source whereas the "want ads" information was not.

Vets Act as Digger Strike Halts Burials

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (INS)—Officials at St. Casimir's Lithuanian Catholic cemetery today sought to bury the bodies of 16 persons, whose interment has been delayed by a strike of grave diggers.

Funeral processions into the cemetery were stopped when hearse drivers and hired drivers of other vehicles refused to cross the picket lines, but a group of recently discharged servicemen took that situation into their own hands.

When the cortege of Jerome Urbas, 60, arrived at the cemetery gate, it was stopped by two pickets and two officers of the AFL Cemetery Workers and Greens Attendants. When some of the mourners pleaded in vain, the pall bearers, all ex-servicemen, conferred. One of them said:

"We ran into plenty of dead overseas and we always saw to it that they rested in peace. We'll see to the same thing here if we must."

Three of the group, taking the places of the hired chauffeurs, went through the gate.

The pickets moved aside when one of the servicemen shouted:

"We'll run you down if you don't get out of the way."

The last rites were said at the receiving vault and the casket carried inside.

The union seeks recognition and pay increases.

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Iran parliament decided in a special meeting today to send two battalions of troops to Russian-occupied Azerbaijan province where armed insurgents have invaded some of the major towns and are reported marching on the Iran capital.

Whether Russian troops would permit entrance of the Iran forces to the trouble area was uncertain.

PARIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Constituent Assembly voted, 400 to 163, today to ask Gen. de Gaulle to renew his efforts to form a coalition government with equal representation to Communists, Socialists and Popular Republicans. In a last-minute switch, Socialists voted for De Gaulle.

Tough Day for Bandits

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Thirty taxicab drivers in the Netherlands garage put up such a howl early today, four bandits fled for their lives, leaving $18,000 cash untouched.

The taximen were getting their machines ready for the day when the robbers yelled "Stick 'em up!" Then the shouting started.

Some of the taximen dove into grease pits and under automobiles. Some jumped through windows. Hugh Trabold, 54, became so confused he bumped into a gunman and fell. The bandit bopped him with a pistol, inflicting a scalp wound.

Finally the gunmen decided the situation was wholly untenable. They fled in a black sedan with New Jersey license plates, in which a fifth man waited at the wheel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—It's news when a bandit hollers "help, police."

It happened when a pair of robbers attempted to hold up 44-year-old Morris Wohl, proprietor of a candy store.

Wohl hit one robber, knocking him right out of the store. An officer entered the shop in time to see the second thief tumbling backward over a counter screaming for police.

8700 Phone Girls Strike, Tie Illinois Long Distance

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (INS)—Long distance telephone service in the Chicago area and all of Illinois was suspended at 6 a. m. today by a strike of 8700 phone operators.

Operators struck in 116 communities in Illinois and northern Indiana.

When the deadline was reached this morning 2000 long distance operators in Chicago left switchboards, severing communications lines with the rest of the country. Suburban calls in the Chicago region likewise were suspended. Chicago dial phones were not affected.

Pickets—most of them young women—began gathering at the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. main office, Washington st., Chicago, two hours before the strike began.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—One of the city's outstanding hospitals, New York Hospital, with 994 beds and 1000 out-patients, was strikebound today when 160 AFL maintenance employes quit.

Pilot, 3 Land in Medford Dump

Allen C. Neal of Essex st., Bangor, former Army and RCAF pilot, made a crash landing in Medford's Locust st. dump today after scores of startled pedestrians dodged for cover as his plane, rapidly losing altitude, skimmed Main st. houses by only 30 feet.

Neal and his passengers, three ensigns on leave, escaped injury. The plane came to rest on its nose.

The ensigns were John J. Kelly of Rockledge pl., Yonkers; Jerome Trigg of Lacon, Miss., and George Carpenter of Newport News, Va. Neal was flying them from Bangor to Boston, intending to continue on to New York alone.

Neal told police the plane, a Waco cabin model, developed a plugged gas line as it neared Medford. He flew it over the heart of the city, spotted the dump and made the landing approximately a quarter-mile from the Mystic Valley pkwy. The plane was not damaged.

The ensigns completed their journey by street car. Neal hoped to take off for New York after repairing the gas line.

Stolen Bridal Car Lands Hero, Fiancee in Jail

PFC Richard Darling, 22, Purple Heart patient at Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, and Nora J. Darre, 19, who were to have embarked on a honeymoon today, occupied cells in East Cambridge jail instead, held for the grand jury in $1000 each.

Judge Winfield Temple of Framingham court found probable cause after Darling and his fiancee each pleaded not guilty to larceny of an automobile and a morals charge.

Police told the court the girl, whose home is in Cleveland, N. Y., had been living in a Framingham rooming house with Darling, a native of Vienna, N. Y., for a week as man and wife.

The car in which the pair were to drive to the minister's and then to serve as their honeymoon chariot, according to police, belonged to Joseph Visali, proprietor of the Venetian Gardens, Framingham who told police he had discovered New York number plates on the machine. Officers arrested Darling as he allegedly tried to drive the car away. Miss Darre was taken into custody as she waited for Darling in the Happy Swallow Cafe.

The couple were to have been married that night by the Rev. E. Paul Jefferson of the Park Street Baptist Church, Framingham.

Darling, who faces a fifth operation for a hand shattered by shrapnel during the Normandy invasion, told police he had been offered the automobile for honeymoon purposes by a fellow patient at the hospital whom he could identify only as "a guy named Joe."

Truman Demands Health Insurance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (INS) — President Truman sent a special message to Congress today calling for compulsory national health insurance and legislation was promptly introduced in the Senate to carry it out.

The chief executive submitted a five-point program to Congress which would include federal aid for construction of hospitals.

Mr. Truman recommended health premiums be exacted on a basis of 4 per cent of earnings calculated on the first $3600 of income.

"Premiums for present social insurance benefits are calculated on the first $3000 a year," he explained. "It might be well to have all such premiums, including those for health, calculated on a somewhat higher amount, such as $3600."

The President declared "the poor have more sickness, but they get less medical care."

The program calls for:

1—Construction, with federal aid, of hospitals, health centers and other facilities.

2—Expansion of public health, maternal and child health services with expansion of co-operative health program between federal and state governments with increased federal funds.

3—Medical education and research under federal grants.

4—Prepayment of medical costs through a compulsory national health insurance system.

5—Protection against loss of wages from sickness and disability, with disability insurance to protect America's families by guaranteeing some income when sick or permanently disabled.

The President emphasized his program does not call for socialized medicine.

"I recommend solving the basic problem by distributing the costs to expansion of our existing compulsory social insurance system," he said. "This is not socialized medicine.

"Everyone should have ready access to all necessary medical, hospital and related services.

"Everyone who carries fire insurance knows how the law of averages is made to work so as to spread the risk, and to benefit the insured who actually suffers the loss. If instead of the costs of sickness being paid only by those who get sick, all the people —sick and well—were required to pay premiums into an insurance fund, the pool of funds thus created would enable all who do fall sick to be adequately served without overburdening anyone."

The president said such a system of repayments should cover hospital, nursing, laboratory services and dental care.

He emphasized that patients would remain free to choose their own doctors, physicians would be free to accept or reject patients, hospitals would continue to manage their own services, voluntary organizations could participate in the insurance system, either to provide services and be paid, or to assist in administration, depending on their functions.

Immediately after receipt of the President's message, Sens. Wagner (D.) of New York and Murray (D.) of Montana introduced a bill they said followed President Truman's recommendations. The bill calls for:

1—Expansion of grants to states for public health service.

2—Expansion through federal aid of community maternal and child health programs.

3—Use of federal funds to help states meet direct medical expenditure for the needy.

4—Provide for prepaid medical care programs.

5—Allow grants of aid to non-profit institutions for research.

President Truman declared how much of the total health insurance fund should come from insurance premiums and how much from general revenues was a matter for Congress to decide.

Truman Urges A. L. Take Lead

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP) —Com. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., told the American Legion that this nation will never be conquered and has always won its wars because "we Americans put our country first." Accepting the Legion Distinguished Service Medal bestowed posthumously upon his father, the late President, Com. Roosevelt said veterans of 1918 and veterans of World War II had in common with his father the spirit of "putting country above life itself."

"I know and you know," he said, with emotion, "that my father gave his life for his country. Veterans have a great responsibility of carrying on that spirit, that tradition."

The late President's successor, President Truman, telegraphed greetings at the opening of the Legion's 27th annual national convention in which he said that was the first Legion convention in many years he had not attended as a delegate from Missouri.

Mr. Truman said the Legion was in a position to "render great service—by helping returning veterans to find their places in competitive society." He said, "They need to be guided back and helped intelligently" and that he hoped the Legion would "take the lead in helping these veterans of World War II." The President added that "the Government will do its part."

The Legion Distinguished Service Medal was presented to Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War, by Roane Waring, past national commander from Tennessee, and accepted on Stimson's behalf by Brig. Gen. Kenneth C. Royall, Undersecretary of War.

Posthumously, the Distinguished Service Medal was presented to Ernie Pyle, the late war correspondent. The medal presented by Lynn U. Stambaugh, past national commander from North Dakota, was accepted by Pyle's aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Bales of Dana, Ind.

Legion Demands Vet Job Safety

By JAMES F. McENANEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—The American Legion will fight to see that the nation keeps its promise to give the returned veteran the job he surrendered when he entered the service.

That is the major issue to be pressed by the more than 3000 Massachusetts delegates to the first national postwar convention of the American Legion, now under way here.

Maurice Devine of Manchester, N. H., chairman of the legislative committee, declared:

"At present the veteran's right to his job is endangered because the guarantee is contained in Section 8 of the Selective Service Act, which expires next May 15 unless Congress extends it. Rather than take any chance with the veteran's right to his job, the American Legion wants the provisions of Section 8 enacted into an entirely new and separate law, which will be a permanent guarantee of his rights."

At the same time the Bay State delegation is making a strong bid for the Legion's 1946 victory convention.

6700 War Vets in Vain Hunt for Homes in Hub

Boston's housing shortage is so acute that the municipal Veterans' Center is daily turning away an average of 75 returned soldiers seeking homes where they may live in reunion with their families, John C. Wickes, director, disclosed today.

Since Aug. 15, he said, the bureau has been able to direct only 35 or 40 veterans to apartments or flats they found acceptable, whereas approximately 6700 men have sought homes through the bureau since that date.

"All last week," said Wickes, "only one property owner had a flat to offer through the bureau, a South Boston vacancy of four rooms for $18 a month. It had no bathroom and the toilet was in the cellar.

"We have been able to send single men to a few furnished rooms but most of the veterans coming here are married, and want to provide dwellings for their families.

"I see no hope in sight. It appears from our experience the situation may continue like this for two more years."

Wickes reported the situation has been "bad" all year but became worse about the middle of August.

"At that time," he explained, "the wives of servicemen began looking for apartments, anticipating their husbands soon would be home."

Farseeing wives did such a thorough job, he added, that little dwelling space is left now and much of that is old as well as lacking proper facilities.

GI, Polish Boy Hero in Reunion

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 19 — Bobby Sokolowski, 10-year-old Polish war waif and buddy of T-Sgt. Edward Klonowski of Chicago, was enjoying a happy reunion with his GI friend, following the orphan's arrival here from England on the S.S. James Swan.

It was Bobby's second visit to America. Two months ago the boy hitched aboard a bomber plane, but immigration officials sent him back because he had no relatives in this country. His entry this time was legal and Klonowski will adopt him.

Bobby fought with American GIs and was wounded five times. He wears the ETO ribbon, the Bronze Star and Silver Star for gallantry in action.

Kitchen Fat Needed To Aid U. S. Industry

Industry is counting on the American housewife to turn in between 250,000,000 and 500,000,000 pounds of fats during 1946 to aid in production of thousands of essentials.

This was the estimate today of officials of the AFL meat cutters and butchers' union, who made a plea for continued co-operation in the fat salvage drive.

Mrs. Charlton said they were married in 1917. She testified her mate made two trips to Hollywood in search of a role. He was unsuccessful, she said, but was still hopeful, and his ban on children was not lifted. He deserted her in 1942, she said.

Auto Dealers Ready to Fight New Car Prices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) —OPA says a new automobile should cost just about the same as pre-war models, but dealers indicate they're ready for a finish fight over government pricing methods.

New ceilings announced yesterday show that General Motors cars will cost the public a little less than the 1942 cars, while prices for Fords, Studebakers and Chrysler-made autos will be somewhat higher.

W. L. Mallon, president of the National Automobile Dealers' Ass'n, said his organization was "disappointed, but not surprised."

Under the OPA plan, manufacturers will be allowed increases. Generally speaking, these will not be passed on to the consumers, but will be absorbed by dealers.

Mallon, in Cincinnati attending an executive committee meeting of his group, said the dealers feel the decision "is not justified either by the limited studies made by OPA, nor the section of the pricing act upon which Mr. Bowles bases his claim of a right to alter discount margins."

He predicted the pricing act would be amended "in the very near future," and said Chairman Patman, (D.) of Texas, of the House Small Business Committee agreed with him.

Patman declined to comment pending a study of the OPA action, but Rep. Larcada, (D.) of Louisiana frequent critic of Price Administrator Chester Bowles, declared "the best interests of the country would be served by Bowles' removal."

"It looks like Bowles is defying the wishes of Congress," Larcade said.

Meanwhile, OPA, continuing plans to price tag other new cars, expected to fix additional prices within two or three weeks.

Girl Sobs Out Love for Gang Suspect

In spite of her accusing testimony, Virginia O'Connor, 23, Allston, the State's closely-guarded star witness, today in Suffolk Superior Court sobbed out a story of undying love for Joseph Keyes, 38, Topliff st., Dorchester, one of a gang of six alleged safe-breakers.

"He's the finest man I've ever met in all my life," she said after breaking down so completely Judge Buttrick called a recess.

"I told him I loved him before all these things happened. I said I would marry him, and my love has never changed."

Keyes, who with six others is charged with safe breaks in Boston's recent crime wave, sat a short distance away—apparently unmoved by her declaration of love.

Under cross-examination by Edward McMahon, counsel for Keyes, she admitted she had turned state's witness to save herself.

"You agreed with the district attorney to toss your sweetheart to the wolves to save your own skin, didn't you?" he asked.

She hesitated a full minute and then with bowed head, answered, "I guess I have."

She told of spending much time with the defendant at various Greater Boston apartments and at a Philadelphia hotel. She said Keyes was always good to her, gave her about $20 a week to spend, bought her dresses and other clothing and offered her the best in entertainment.

Under direct questioning by Asst. Dist. Atty. Sullivan, she also told of visiting Boston establishments with Keyes a day or two before they were robbed.

Mrs. O'Connor, who has been guarded at a Boston hotel by a policewoman ever since her arrest, said she is the mother of three children, aged 6, 5 and 4. She said the State had placed two of them in Dorchester homes and the other at Long Island Hospital.

On trial with Keyes in connection with safe robberies at the Pepsi-Cola plant in Brighton and the Lalime Partridge Co., Back Bay, are five other defendants.

They are John Epplch, 32, Norwood; Edward McAleney, 32, Dorchester; Frank Feeney, 28, Jamaica Plain; William Gallagher, 27, Philadelphia, and Edward Rasmussen, 45, Dorchester.

Commr. Sullivan Rapped For Attack on Jurors

Police Commr. Sullivan was criticized for his opinions on Boston jurors by Judge Buttrick today in the trial of six men accused as safe breakers in Boston's crime-wave.

After defense counsel had sought a mistrial on the basis of Sullivan's remarks at a YWCA meeting, the judge said:

"I want to comment on something that appeared in the public prints as coming from the police commissioner. It had to do with criticism of Suffolk County jurors and I want to say that I have been in this court a good many years and that jurors here as a whole are as good as you will find in the state.

"I also want thisju ry to pay no attention to what the commissioner said about acetylene torches and tanks. It has nothing to do with you, with me or with this case."

Many Holdup Victims Identify Hub Suspects

Victims or witnesses of more than a score of recent Greater Boston holdups today identified Arthur Stegeman, 27, and James Bergen, 30, both of Jamaica Plain, or said they "resembled" the accused men as they viewed the pair in police lineup.

To all identifications Stegeman protested bitterly, and Bergen, too, denied all complicity in holdups to which victims or witnesses linked him.

Lt. James V. Crowley said the pair would make another lineup appearance tomorrow before being taken to court on charges of armed robbery.

Also in the lineup was a 19-year-old Brighton student, who confessed "fingering" a North Washington st. upholstery shop allegedly held up by the pair, along with James C. Kerrigan, 27, of Jamaica Plain, arrested in Providence two weeks ago.

The youth said he had met Kerrigan, Stegeman and Bergen in Harvard sq., Cambridge, just before the Egyptian Theater holdup last Oct. 7. He declared he got $200 after the upholstery shop holdup and "nothing" from the theater stickup.

At the same time, Mrs. Kathleen Paxton, 22, of Bicknell st., Roxbury, appeared in Roxbury court. Police charge she enabled Stegeman to get his hair dyed while he was being hunted.

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles ordered her bail reduced from $1500 double surety to $1000.

A Roxbury mother of two small children, arrested with Stegeman and Bergen when they were trapped Saturday in a Trumbull, Ct., hideaway, did not appear in the lineup. Capt. Thomas J. Duggan of the Roxbury Crossing station said she had been released and would appear as a material witness.

James Bergen

She is the wife of a sailor who returned home last Wednesday.

Also in the lineup was a 45-year-old South End seaman, whose arrest by Roxbury Crossing police Thursday led to the trapping of Stegeman and Bergen.

Holdup victims who were lineup witnesses included:

Charles Pratt, Egyptian Theater manager.

George D. McCarthy of McCarthy Bros. Milk Co., Linden Park st., Roxbury.

Thomas Higgins, of St. Alphonsus st., Roxbury.

Jesse Piermarini and Donald Poirier, both of the Metropolitan Theater, Leominster.

Edward T. Croft of the Haffenreffer Brewery, Columbus ave.

Harry Seigel, Washington ave., Chelsea credit union official, and Joseph Keezer, Harvard sq. clothier.

'Its's Best,' Says Wife Of Slain Deserter

ATHOL, Nov. 19—Shot to death when he tried to bluff his way to freedom by threatening a State Trooper with an empty rifle, Arnold Boudreau, 21, of Natick, lay in a Gardner funeral home today—"better off dead" in the words of his young widow.

"Something was definitely the matter with him. He was so different I hardly knew him," said Mrs. Barbara McDonald Boudreau, 21, when told her husband, a chronic Army deserter, had been killed while resisting arrest in a Baldwinsville dwelling.

"He started to change when the Natick draft board told him he was going to be drafted. He kept saying that no army was big enough to hold him," said the young widow, who recalled her husband as a quiet and easy-going student at Natick High School.

Boudreau was shot by State Police Cpl. Donald A. MacMillan, 45, a veteran of both World Wars, who went to the house with Police Chief Frank O'Neil of Templeton.

When the two officers entered the house, after having obtained no response to repeated knocks, they were confronted by Boudreau, dressed in civilian clothing, with a rifle in his hands.

Swinging the muzzle to cover the state trooper, Boudreau shouted that he would kill him, but MacMillan fired first, and the fugitive dropped to the floor.

Rockland H. S. Wrecked by Vandals

ROCKLAND, Nov. 19—Vandals forced their way into the Rockland High Shool building during the night, removed doors from their hinges, spattered walls with ink and smashed furniture, school authorities said today.

All senior and junior high school classes were suspended while the damage is repaired. State and local police were called.

The vandals forced open a door to gain entry and then, with screw drivers obtained from the manual training department, removed all room doors from their hinges.

Desks in the various rooms were broken, and pictures smashed. School textbooks were ripped and thrown out windows on the school lawn and a picture of President Truman was torn in pieces.

School officials said a sum of money also was stolen from boxes, in each room, which were being used for a fund collection.

Approximately 250 students are affected by the school closing.

Bogus Christmas Seal Salesman Sought

Search was started by Cambridge police today for a youth wearing an Army uniform, representing himself as an agent of the Cambridge Tuberculosis and Health Ass'n, who was making sales of the association's Christmas seals.

Association representatives said sales were being made by mail only. The youth was described as 19 to 20 years of age, of medium height and build, with light brown hair.

Asks Cash Shift For City Payrolls

Transfer of $196,575 from various city departments to meet payroll shortages arising from wage increases granted last Jan. 2, by the then Mayor Tobin, was asked today by Mayor Kerrigan in orders sent to the City Council.

Largest single transfer was $55,000 which the Mayor asks be taken from the Old Age Assistance fund to meet payroll demands for the rest of the year in the Welfare Dept. He also asked that $46,000 be transferred from Park Dept. expenses to that department's payrool.

The orders were referred to the executive committee for action.

BOY KILLER'S TERM CUT

The 28 to 35-year State Prison sentence now being served by 13-year-old Earle V. Laurie of Springfield for the icebox killing of his sister, Hazel, 6, today was cut to 18 to 20 years by the appellate division of superior court.

Too Much Music, So Wife Sues

Music at times may soothe the soul but it doesn't fill the hungry youngsters' stomachs, according to Mrs. Louise F. Stroehla, 41, of Arbor st., Methuen, who today sought divorce in Salem probate court from William G. Stroehla, also 44.

Mrs. Stroehla, telling Judge John V. Phelan that her husband kept five phonographs playing at once, said music was his one great passion. She declared he worked spasmodically, buying more than 1000 records with his pay.

She testified she was wed in 1925 and had to leave home in 1935 to support her daughters, now 15 and 17 years old.

Stroehlan did not contest and Judge Phelan took the case under advisement.

Also taken under advisement were divorce petitions of Robert Lee, 37, of Beaver pk., Danvers, and Robert E. Colbert, 33, of Main st., Wenham, both discharged Navy men who served on aircraft carriers.

Lee charged his wife, Diana, with desertion, and Colbert brought the same charge against his spouse, Dorothy.

Pa, Ma at His Golden Bridal

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19 (INS)—Golden wedding anniversaries are not unusual these days, but when your own parents can felicitate you on the occasion—that is something.

This was the happy experience today of a Cleveland couple, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner, each 72, who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday.

The couple was congratulated by Wagner's parents, Conrad, 95, and Margaret, 91, who have been married 73 years.

$WOONDERFUL $1 SHIRTS

If you have been tracking down shirts these past few months, you know it's just like treasure hunting. Still anything but plentiful, shirts in the lower price brackets are just about non-existant—so when Filene's Happy Hunting Ground bobs up with shirts at $1, well the whole town is agog. Just like this past winter when the O'Haras and the Apleys were deploring the satorial state of a gentleman's wardrobe minus neckband shirts—up pops Filene's Basement with odd lots of neckband shirts and in almost no time at all they were sold as if Gone With the Wind. How do we get shirts, mighty good ones at $1 to crash the temporary dearth and out-foil what begins to look like a permanent shortage? Just like we get our hundreds of other unique bargain lots through purchases of odd lots, retail store stocks, discontinued lines and seconds. These were seconds of famous-make broadcloth or percale-stripes and, believe it or not, plain white shirts for a mere, insignificant sum of $1. If you were here last Thursday, you saw them, not a mere handful, but quantities that had men and women standing around the counters six deep. Not only shirts at $1, but pajamas, sweaters and shorts and union suits at $1. Of course, they are all sold—they were sold in a brief few hours, but when an institution like this sells about 12,000,000 bargains annually in that great diversified variety you are apt to find a little of this and some of that not excluding infrequently scarce commodities like $1 dresses, $1 shoes, $1 slips, $1 articles, etc. And if there is anyone in the audience who may to the slightest degree question the veracity of these dollar bargains, their genuine worth and dependableness, fabulously underpriced though they may be—just let him or her ponder the fact that when a store caters to millions of folks annually, it's pretty good proof that the bargains must be O. K. and being O. K. with millions why not with you?

Jewish Vets Laud Memorial to War Dead

Support for the proposed memorial to unknown American dead who fell in both the Atlantic and Pacific theaters during World War II was pledged today by Jacob I. Polak, commander, Dept. of Massachusetts, Jewish War Veterans of the United States.

The memorial, suggested editorially by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser and other Hearst newspapers, would be similar to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and would be located near it in Washington.

Already two bills providing for such a memorial have been introduced into Congress, one by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell and the other by Rep. and Mayor-elect James M. Curley of Boston.

"The efforts to establish a memorial to the unknown Americans who died in the European and Pacific theaters of war have the heartiest approval of the Jewish War Veterans of this State," said Com. Polak.

"No more fitting tribute could be paid to the thousands of men and women who gave up their lives for their country than this. They died as plain citizens who had put away their civilian status to fight a war which brought victory to the common people of the world. They could have given their lives in no more noble cause.

"The Jewish War Veterans of Massachusetts highly commend the idea of a memorial at Washington in honor of the unknown Americans who gave their lives while members of all branches of the armed forces.

Vets' Center Ready

The new Greater Boston Veterans' Center, 333 Washington st., will be opened Wednesday, largely staffed by World War I veterans who will serve the veterans of World War II with information and counsel, Frederick W. Bliss, chairman of the Greater Boston Citizens' Committee for Veterans' Services, announced today.

Bliss, father of three sons still in uniform, said:

"As a veteran enters he will be met by a veteran, and while being served probably will meet many others who speak his language.

"There will be a minimum of red tape and a veteran will not be treated as a 'case.' Any information he provides the counselors will be held in strictest confidence. Our main objective is to provide the veterans a centrally located office where they can talk things out with experts who know the answers."

The job counseling service, initiated in 1943 by the Greater Boston Community Council, will be a part of the center's program, he said.

Air Clinic Hears Wiggins Head

Increasing growth of aviation will spread air service to virtually every community in the nation, Joseph Garside, president of the Wiggins Airways of Norwood, predicted today in the opening session of the National Aviation Clinic at Oklahoma City.

"The prophets were wrong when they said automobiles would never travel every road in the nation," he said. "Now they tell you air transportation is only for the larger communities and that small hops between the lesser cities and towns are costly and impractical.

"Aviation will grow and it is not only possible but inevitable that it will reach to every nook and corner of the nation. Volume of short haul feeder and charter air service will reduce the cost to a reasonably competitive rate."

Tobin Warns U. S. on Essex Refuge

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Massachusetts never will permit the creation of a "health menace" within its borders, Gov. Tobin told the House agriculture committee today in urging abandonment of the Parker river wild life refuge.

Tobin asked the committee to approve two bills which would force the federal government to abolish the project in Essex County, Mass., and to restore land taken from former owners by condemnation.

The Governor told the committee his state, "under its constitutional rights," would not allow flooding of the Crane pond area, as contemplated by the interior department, because it would "spread malaria."

If the Interior Department should insist on continuing with the 12,000-acre project, Tobin told a reporter, the State would "secure an injunction and stop them from going forward."

He told the committee the Crane pond portion of the preserve "can never be established because we will never consent to a project that will be a health menace to the people of Massachusetts."

The Governor said in "unnecessarily great haste" the interior Department took almost 400 parcels of land by eminent domain on the last two days of December, 1944. Property of individuals, he said, was taken without the owners ever having been visited by representatives of the fish and wildlife service.

The committee also heard a plea from a war veteran, Francis Fuller of Georgetown, who said he bought 10 acres of land in the area to go into the wood business.

"It was a sneak attack worse than that at Pearl Harbor. I was stabbed in the back. If there's going to be a free world, I want to get my land back."

OUR HAT IS OFF TO YOU...

AND NOW OUR HAT'S IN THE AIR...

NOW . . . FASTER CLEANSING SERVICE ON GARMENTS . . . is back again!

We know we kept many of you waiting for cleansing service . . . during the war. We did our best—but even so there were times when our service was so slow, it was terrible.

But most of you were wonderful—and we appreciate it. So much so that we have tried ever since to get back to "FASTER SERVICE"—particularly on garment cleansing. Now we are happy to say that you can again send Coats, Suits and Dresses to be Lewandos-Cleansed—and get them back in a reasonable period of time. No one is happier about this than we are. If you have stayed away because Lewandos service was slow—please try us again . . . now.

LOW EVERY-DAY PRICES

You will get faster cleansing service on garments—and low, every-day prices. For our prices are at their lowest level in over 100 years—purposely so more people may enjoy Lewandos quality-cleansing.

For instance: Men's Business Suits . . . $1.00 for cleansing and pressing; Men's or Ladies' Top Coats—just $1.00—most Ladies' Day-time Dresses, $1.25—for Lewandos cleansing and finishing. You may be paying more than this now and not getting Lewandos Cleansing.

Men's and Ladies' Heavy Coats—just $1.25 and if they are Fur Trimmed—just 50c more—regardless of how much fur there is! That means most fur-trimmed coats are Lewandos Cleansed for only $1.50 or $1.75. You never pay more! That's why we say Lewandos prices are low—reasonable.

THERE'S A LEWANDOS SHOP NEAR YOU

The chances are that there is a Lewandos Shop right around the corner from your home—where you shop—or where you work. For Lewandos has been opening a number of new shops to serve its many friends.

Look at the Lewandos Shop locations below—find the one nearest you—and take a Coat, Suit or Dress to be cleansed right away. Let us show our appreciation for your patience by giving you FASTER CLEANSING SERVICE—right away.

No. 4 Nazi to Face War Trial Later

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Ernst Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the Nazi security police, suffered a brain hemorrhage in his cell last night, but a spokesman for the U. S. prosecutor's office said today he would have to answer charges before the International War Crimes Tribunal at a later date.

An indication Kaltenbrunner would not be present at the scheduled opening tomorrow of the trial of topflight Nazis came from physicians at the 116th U. S. Army Hospital, where he was taken. The doctors said he "was finished" with the trial temporarily.

The spokesman in the office of Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, said the court itself would decide when Kaltenbrunner would be tried. The prosecution regards Kaltenbrunner as the No. 4 defendant.

France and the Soviet Union are pressing for a postponement of the trial. If it opens on schedule there may be only 19 of the 24 Nazis listed in the original indictment on hand.

In addition to heading Hitler's security police, Kaltenbrunner was a general in the SS, a member of the Reichstag, a state secretary for security in Austria and police leader of Vienna.

Yanks Arrest Frau Goering

LONDON, Nov. 19 (INS)—The London Daily Mail reported in a dispatch from Nuernberg today that U. S. troops had arrested Frau Emmy Goering.

The report said Hermann Goering, once leader of the Luftwaffe, was not aware his wife had been arrested.

Britain to Grab More Industries

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Labor Leader Herbert Morrison announced today the Attlee government intends to convert to public ownership the electric and gas industries, railways, canals and long-distance road haulage services.

The Labor government previously had announced its intention to nationalize civil aviation and tele-communication services of Cable and Wireless, Ltd.

Maine Governor's Mansion Aflame

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 19 (AP)—A dozen rooms in the wing of Maine's executive mansion were damaged today by a fire which broke out in the basement while Gov. Horace A. Hildreth, his wife and children slept.

First awakened was Katherine, 9, who braved thick smoke to gather up her war bonds and a watch.

Holtz Resumes Post As U. S. Attorney

Jackson J. Holtz returned today to his duties as assistant U. S. Attorney after 43 months of service as a major in the Army Ordnance Dept., for which he was given a commendatory citation.

He will replace Joseph J. Gottlieb, who returns to private practice after substituting for Maj. Holtz.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—My husband is a private in the Army and is soon to be discharged. When do I receive my last allotment check? K. M. Roslindale.

A—The final Family Allowance check is issued the month following date of discharge.

Q—If an officer enters terminal leave from a post where he was furnished quarters, does he forfeit his quarters allowance for the period of leave? C. L., Rutland.

A—No.

Q—How is the length of terminal leave due an officer figured? J. T., Burlington.

A—An officer accrues 2½ days leave per month of service. When leaving the service any unused leave is known as terminal leave and the officer draws his pay through this period. The terminal leave may not exceed 120 days.

Q—I have had a child by a soldier but am not married. Will the government pay me an allowance for the child, and if I receive payment, would anything be taken from his wife and children? B. W., Wollaston.

A—Family Allowance would be payable to the child if the fact of paternity is established. This requires a certified statement from the soldier, or adjudication by court that he is the father. If the soldier is willing to file application himself, that is sufficient evidence of paternity. Your child would receive $20 a month if application was approved, and no amount would be deducted from the payments made to his wife and children. Detailed information regarding procedure for filing may be obtained from Personal Affairs Branch, First Service Command, Boston.

Q—My son has served in the Army almost three years, and is now discharged. My sister's boy was in the service about the same length of time. The boys want to go to school under the provisions of the GI Bill, but my son has been told he may have only one year's schooling while my nephew may have four years. Why is this? L. W., Concord.

A—The educational benefits provided under the GI Bill depend on the age of the serviceman at time of his induction or enlistment. If he was under 25, and had a minimum of 90 days' service (unless discharged earlier for disability), after Sept. 16, 1940, he is entitled to educational benefits for one year, plus as many months as he was in service not to exceed four years; if the serviceman was over 25 when he entered service he is entitled to a refresher course of one year only, unless proof is furnished that his education was interrupted.

Free meeting places have been provided by the Boston School Committee in co-operation with the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser at 14 school centers in the city where ex-servicemen can meet their former buddies, discuss organization plans and check on jobs. Information about these centers can be obtained by telephoning Dept. Extended Use of Public School, CAP. 5500, or by inquiring at 15 Beacon st.

Move to Revoke Vt. Milk Permits

City and state authorities today moved to revoke the certificates of registration issued to Vermont dairies accused of diverting their supply to Rhode Island and Connecticut, causing a shortage of milk in the Greater Boston area.

Frank A. Mott of the Boston Health Department, meeting with Mayor Kerrigan blamed the shortage on "unscrupulous milk producers who are anxious enough to sell here under city permits for 11 months of the year."

Mott said when the normal shortage comes in November, producers aggravate it by sending their supply to other market centers for a higher price.

Health Commr. Dr. Frederick J. Bailey and Mott recommended permits of those producers be revoked.

Kerrigan agreed if Corporation Counsel James A. Agnew approves.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be substantially caused, in some cases, by excessive acid wastes within the body.

As a dietary aid to assist the body's faster neutralization and elimination of these excessive acid wastes from tissues and joints, which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful Chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

CUT OUT THIS ADVERTISEMENT and present it with $1.95 at any Nature Food Centres Store to get your Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets. Take them as directed on the label and if they do not bring soothing relief to your aching joints and muscles faster than any other dietary aid you have ever used, THE TRIAL IS FREE! Just return the bottle and get your money back. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets cost only a few cents a day to use. 250 Tablet Bottles — $1.95. (500 Tablet Economy Size, $3.25.) Mail orders sent postpaid. Total sales of war bonds to individuals in the Bay State have amounted to $70,400,000, or 54.1 per cent of the $130,000,000 quota, at the beginning of the second half of the Victory Loan Drive today, the Massachusetts war finance committee announced.

11 Jap War Chiefs Face Arrest

TOKYO, Nov. 19 (AP)—Eleven Japanese war leaders, including generals accused of responsibility for the rape of Nanking, the Mukden incident and the bombing of the U. S. gunboat Panay, were ordered arrested today.

Simultaneously, headquarters announced that 57 more accused Japanese war criminals—mostly minor characters charged with brutalities against war prisoners—were in custody.

Two of the Japanese—Yosuke Matsuoka, former foreign minister, and Toshio Shiratori, former ambassador to Rome, were instrumental in negotiating the tripartite (Germany-Italy-Japan) pact.

Others include:

Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, former commander-in-chief of the Kwantung army, considered responsible for the Mukden incident, which Japan used as an excuse to conquer Manchuria.

Gen. Iwane Matsui, retired, blamed for the rape of Nanking and the bombing of the Panay.

Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, premier for a time in 1944 who as chief of staff of the Kwantung army also had a hand in Manchuria's conquest.

Gen. Jiro Minami, once known as the brains of the militarist clique.

AN IMPRESSIVE WITNESS

GENERAL EISENHOWER was a most impressive witness before the Senate Military Affairs Committee in his advocacy of a unified Army and Navy command.

He was impressive not only because of the high authority with which he speaks on the subject, but because of the good temper in which he spoke.

Too much of the current discussion of this important question is in bad temper, reflecting emotional rather than rational thinking, and occasionally reflecting self interest rather than national interest.

General Eisenhower simply read from the book of his own experience as commander of the greatest military force ever assembled in any war—a force which included all the elements of modern war, Army, Navy and aviation—and frankly said that if he had not been given the SUPREME command of that force he would not have been able to do the job.

In other words, the instrument of SINGLE COMMAND was responsible for the Allied victory in Europe.

"One of the most important and least understood factor in modern war," General Eisenhower told the Senate committee, "is that it is essentially a matter of perfected TEAMWORK.

"Perfected teamwork results as much from friendly association over a period of years as it does from the more obvious reasons of combined tactical training and doctrine.

"By unification at the top we emphasize to our soldiers, sailors and airmen the essential truth that each wears the uniform of the nation's fighting forces and that his natural friends and trusted associates are the others who wear that uniform, regardless of its color or design."

THE FOLLY of the policy of divided command, as General Eisenhower said, had its most tragic demonstration at Pearl Harbor.

It was only when the American forces began to operate under a policy of unification that the tide of defeat was turned and the victory made possible, both in Europe and in the Pacific.

The separate American forces found it IMPOSSIBLE to wage successful war, and most sensibly and fortunately set up the vital machinery of unified command as a condition of winning the war.

WHY SHOULD WE RISK GOING INTO ANY FUTURE WAR UNDER A POLICY MAKING VICTORY IMPOSSIBLE UNTIL THE IMMINENT PROSPECT OF DEFEAT FORCES A CHANGE IN POLICY?

Our greatest lesson learned from the greatest of all wars, as General Eisenhower says, was that:

"THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A SEPARATE LAND, SEA OR AIR WAR. "WE MUST RECOGNIZE THIS FACT BY ESTABLISHING A SINGLE DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMED FORCES."

WHAT General Eisenhower has so impressively said, with good judgment and in good temper, should strongly influence the decision of Congress.

It will surely convince the American people who, knowing the authority with which he testifies and the universally recognized soundness of his judgment, believe he MEANS what he says and KNOWS what he is talking about.

"With integration, we can buy MORE security for LESS money," according to the considered judgment of this great military commander.

General Eisenhower has given his testimony on the issue of military unification in a manner to lift the FACTS in the situation above the smokescreen of emotion and self-interest.

That is a service to his country which ranks well with his military triumphs.

Take Time, my dear, ere Time takes wing;
Beauty knows no second spring.
Marble pillars, tombs of brass,
Time breaks down much more this glass;
At twenty-five in women's eyes
Beauty does fade, at thirty dies.
—HOWARD

(Above was written 270 years ago. Today, of course beauty does know a second spring. Sometimes a third. Yesterday I saw an actress I know to be 53 years old and she looked to be around 25. And in a close-up view, off-stage.)

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—I'm Taurus (April 21-May 20). He is Aries (March 31-April 20). Do you think I can handle him as a husband? A—The star gazers claim Taurus women are very clever in controlling or handling other people. However, it is not specified as to whether or not this includes husbands. As to Aries men it is said they respond best to kindness. That they resent the use of arbitrary force. You know the saying: "You've got to reason with a mule." That goes for Aries men.

SAYS HE: "Your Horses and Women experts have several times claimed men are more sentimental and romantic than women," writes a San Francisco bachelor. "They are exactly right. To most women what they call love is just a means of tossing a lasso around a man and his income. That is, the woman's idea is to make the man fall in love. After all, if the poor sap wasn't in love what advantage would it be for him to marry. On the other hand, even if a woman is not in love the advantages she gains by marrying are numerous. Yes, sir, men are more romantic than women and the women certainly should be thankful they are. Otherwise the girls would find good providers very hard to get."

TWO TO SIX: How many couples are there in the United States who are parents of children between the ages of two and six? I can't find any statistical information on this matter, so all I can do is guess. I believe there are about 6,000,000 couples in this country with children of those ages. Anyway, the youngsters from two to six, inclusive, are getting plenty of attention. First the government issued pamphlets dealing with care of such children. Now, there is to be a magazine exclusively devoted to them.

BRIDES: In the Park ave. section of Manhattan there is a highly successful School of Cookery which gives special attention to young women about to marry. In the same section there is a School for Brides. At this school a bride can learn practically everything she ought to know about cooking, housekeeping in general and entertaining. There should be such schools everywhere. Then when a girl proposed to a young fellow he could, before accepting her ask: "Have you a diploma from a School for Brides?"

"They won't discharge me, Dave, because I've been assigned to answering letters from congressmen asking why soldiers aren't being discharged fast enough!"

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Some of the young men and their brides tell me that they look for a day, real soon, when they will own pretty little homes on the edge of town, with grass to mow and roses 'round the door and a room for the baby with nursery pictures on the walls.

Westbrook Pegler

Well, they can dream.

After the other war we faltered a little while and then, all of a sudden, down on Long Island, out in Westchester and over on the Jersey side, promoters bought up old, no-account acreage which had been just lying there and the big scoops moved in and pretty soon there were streets and sewers, gas mains and wires and row on row of real nice little cottages.

WE HAD a very bad housing situation in New York for a short time. It was really worse, for a spell, there, in the winter of 1919-20 than it is today because I remember doing the story at the old armory at 34th and Park ave. where the homeless were put down on cots. Not hobo homeless but people, families, without homes. It was pretty terrible I can tell you.

But then, the builders, speculators mostly, got the idea and those rows of houses popped up.

The majority of the houses were supposed to be 15-year jobs. Much of the lumber was green and the work was rushed. But they were, anyway, homes, and I notice that when the time is up on a 15-year job they don't tear it down. They are still standing, not so fresh and pretty as then, but homes, still.

In those days, with the amount of capital for a down payment that many thousands of our servicemen have got today, a fellow could get possession of a right nice house with first and second mortgages, at a selling price of around $5000 or $6000.

Then they worked the mortgages off, he and she, and meanwhile, if the job didn't blow up, and you remember we sailed right into good times under those Republicans, they got a car on time payments and new roads were pushed out into the country and it was in such times and conditions and to such homes and surroundings that many of these new veterans of the Second World War were born.

But this time, I just don't see how—

YOU SPEAK of housing and you are speaking of a "project," a government undertaking, financed by some mysterious authority which eventually gets the money from the taxpayers and reserves the right to boost you out of your apartment if you have the misjudgment to pass a certain plimsoll mark in your pay.

Then you turn to the country and no power-shovels do you see nor those white stakes 50 feet apart on old pastures and rocky hills, although there is still plenty of that old land available between the old subdivisions of the twenties and the golf courses.

I hear some half-brave talk but nothing convincing because when you get the pencil and the tablecloth and put down just the preliminary figures, you scratch it out and start playing tit-tat-toe.

On $55 a week, minus Social Security and taxes, on $75, even, or $90, if it comes to that, how much house will those boys and the little brides be able to buy these days at these prices?

I do see where some developments of come-apart houses are being talked up in print and they were a snare and a delusion 25 years ago, but I am told that they are very sturdy and efficient now. But my old friend, Thurman Arnold, a New Dealer, who had charge of the Anti-Trust division of the D. of J., long ago warned us that we couldn't expect prefab houses under our present laws and those laws haven't been changed as much as a comma.

The unions won't let you put them up and in some places they won't even let you use window glass already set in the panes in factories unless you pay some loafer of a glazier in the town where your house is to sit down in the tavern for two or three weeks at straight time.

And if the kitchen cabinet comes ready painted you have to pay a local painter on the same basis and the same with pre-cut pipe and on down the line.

POOR OLD THURMAN tried to get some laws that would let these boys and girls buy package-store houses and save their money but that Supreme Court knocked him looping and the strange part is that carpenters, glaziers, painters, plumbers and all just won't be working anyway because these new customers can't afford to hire them.

Thurman is still a New Dealer, too, proving that it isn't a philosophy but just an attitude and a painful one, at that.

Still, it is nice to dream and it doesn't cost anything.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19—You can well imagine MGM's reading department has turned everything upside down and backwards to get a good idea for Robert Taylor's return movie. Well, they have it!

When Bob gets back from a vacation hunting trip he'll report to MGM for Thelma Strabel's book, "You Were There." It's described as a mystery on the order of "Rebecca." Goodness, how these mysteries go with the public these days.

Robert Taylor

Bob looks wonderful and don't think all his fans won't be there to welcome him back. One by one MGM's male stars are returning. This studio has more popular gents than any other in Hollywood, what with the new ones created during the war and the old ones already stars, well, there will be an embarrassment of riches.

BANGOR, ME., will be happy to know Hedy Lamarr starts "The Strange Woman" Dec. 1. You see, Bangor is very interested in this movie because all the story takes place there, so I thought I'd tell them and the rest of my readers that the two leading men, George Sanders and Louis Hayward, have been selected. They are really more than leading men, they are stars, and will be given star billing with Hedy. They were chosen at a meeting attended by Hedy, Associate Producer Jack Chertok, and Hunt Stromberg, who is angeling the picture and, of course, having his say about it.

KATHRYN GRAYSON, who is expecting the stork, and June Allyson, who is not, are getting ready to start "Till the Clouds Roll By" with Van Johnson. In denying she and Dick Powell were planning a nursery, June said: "It isn't that I don't want a baby. I'd love to have one later. But it doesn't happen to be true right now." So that's that. "Till the Clouds Roll By" is based on the life of the late beloved composer Jerome Kern, and I was interested to hear Jacqueline White, the little girl who lost out in "The Yearling," plays Mrs. Kern in the movie. Kathryn plays the part of the famous musical comedy star, Julia Sanderson.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Sizzling hot from New York comes the rumor Michael O'Shea, the actor, and his wife have definitely parted. She is living in Connecticut, while he is in New York. He is being seen everywhere with Virginia Mayo, and the talk is that when he's legally free she will become Mrs. O'Shea. He's in the play, "The Red Mill," which is a really terrific hit. There were rumors of his romance with Virginia sometime ago.

I WENT to the New Colony Restaurant and I must say the dinner was more than good—it was delicious. The chef, Francois, outdid himself. Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan came in from the wedding of Gail Patrick's brother and Jane was very funny. She said after two glasses of champagne she took off the wedding ring she wears in "The Yearling"—it's a specially made one—and handed it to the bride saying: "This has brought me so much happiness that I want you to have it." Then she forgot to reclaim it and everybody was wondering what was going to happen when she went to work and the prop she was wearing all through the picture was missing.

WHEN DEBORAH KERR, the English actress who was seen in "Colonel Blimp," "Love on the Dole" and as the star in Sir Alexander Korda's new picture, arrives in Hollywood it will be as a bride. She is marrying Tony Berkley of the British Air Force. He is the son of Sir Charles Berkley and has been in love with the beautiful Deborah a long time. They waited until after the war to marry. I assume he will come here with her although there is nothing definite on that.

SOMETIMES I wonder why I ever wanted to be a reporter. I spent one whole day tracking Bette Davis and finally I got her at dinner time. After calling everybody who ever knew her, getting myself late to a dinner party, besides losing my temper 999 times. Well, when I did get Bette she started to say "I have nothing to say." Then I did burn up. I said, "I want the truth—and fast!" So Bette gave them to me. She said the news of her supposed marriage to William Grant Sherry was as much a surprise to her as it must have been to the rest of the world. So, she says it isn't so. "How do these stories start?" she asked. How do they, indeed! I understand the young man is very good looking and Bette was seen with him in Laguna a number of times. Isn't that all it needs in Hollywood to start the rumors flying?

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Jane and Bill Hollingsworth have reconciled, everyone will be glad to hear. They have gone to live in their house which is the Coldwater Canyon mansion once occupied by Myrna Loy and Arthur Hornblow; Eddie Buchanan, the dentist, who grew tired of pulling teeth and turned actor, and his wife will adopt a baby; at Ciro's the other night Ginger Rogers showed up with her husband, and many, many people gave Ginger's new "wife" her latest young dancing partner. No there's no feud, but when a lady has an interesting doctor, why make a family affair of it? Thanksgiving Day Mrs. Eddie Bracken moves into St. John's Hospital to await arrival of what she hopes will be a boy. It's their third child, Mary Kay, sister of Eddie, Bryne and Charley, will marry Lyle Latell, the second week of December; U. S. District Attorney and Mrs. Carr will entertain in honor of Assistant Attorney-General Wendell Berge next Wednesday.

VIRGINIA FIELDS continues to be very ill, so sick with an impacted tooth and sinus complications. She'll be out of "Ladies Man" another week. And speaking of invalids, his pals will be sorry to hear Bob Cobb is in Good Samaritan Hospital; Mrs. Bob Hope tossed one of the prettiest baby showers of the year at the Beverly Hills Club in honor of Dorothy Lamour Howard. Among the belles who bore gifts were Rita Hayworth, Barbara Stanwyck, Ann Sother, Hedy Lamarr and some three dozen others; Marjorie Reynolds has postponed her trip East on account of her husband, Capt. Jack Reynolds, is getting his discharge; Hollywood won't be seeing Charles Laughton for three or four months. He left for New York over the weekend and his wife, Elsa Lancaster, joins him there after the first of the year; Capt. Buster Murray is out of uniform and has gone to New York. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—For quite a time I've been reading and hearing how Britain was going Red to the point of bursting into Communist flames, but I don't think I really believed it until the other day when I heard Clement Attlee.

Clement Attlee

The idea seemed too fantastic—the country I always associated with ultra-conservatism—"Always dress for dinner, old chap."—"Shave every morning in the jungle"—going the way of Moscow. It still seems fantastic, but Attlee himself indicated it is true.

I happened to be at a gathering at which Attlee was present. We agreed beforehand that anything he might say was not to be quoted directly, but could be used for guidance in any writing we might do on the subject. Therefore, I cannot report exactly what he said.

But the head of His Majesty's government left no doubt that private enterprise in Britan is doomed—and that he is to be principal executioner. And he made no bones that it is a task he is approaching with relish.

Britannia's Prime Minister—shades of Gladstone and Disraeli—made it clear that private industry will be gobbled up by government as fast as it can be masticated. A couple of years may be necessary before all is swallowed but the government's hands are extended to pick the industrial plums as they fall ripe.

WHAT'S THE USE of kidding? When a country knocks off private enterprise, you know where it is headed.

Without private competition there's no democracy—and all the Red yelping that the reverse is the case—doesn't alter the eternal truth.

I'VE GOT to get my mind off this somehow, before complete melancholia sets in, so I will tell of an evening in Washington with Mr. Joe E. Lewis.

The eminent comedian came here to sing his famous "Mr. Truman, won't you be human, and play the piano for me" at the National Press Club dinner to the President. Along with Mr. Bill McEvoy, known to his many admirers as Senator McMeatball, I went to the airport to greet the distinguished guest.

Approaching the Statler, an array of cops and Secret Service men halted our car. Trying to show off—and also impress Mr. Lewis—I produced my White House card.

The gendarmes ignored it completely, merely retorting the way would have to be kept clear because the President was expected momentarily.

Whereupon Mr. Lewis pulled a paper from his pocket and waved it madly.

"Look!" he bellowed. "Look at this!"

A large copper scrutinized the paper and broke into the widest grin I've seen in years.

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

"But, Judge, all my life my remarks have been irresponsible, irrelevant and immaterial!"

"Go ahead," he guffawed, "that'll get you in anywhere!"

Later I asked Mr. Lewis the nature of this impressive document and he produced it proudly.

It was a racing scratch sheet!

MR. LEWIS then endeared himself to a self-important official by accusing him of having a built-in sneer after which he went up to another stuffed shirt and grasped him warmly by the hand.

But when the pompous one finally unbent to the point of a wan smile, Mr. Lewis completely stunned him by saying:

"I remember you well from the last time I was here. You rolled me when I was drunk!"

ALL IN ALL, I guess it was just as well Mr. Lewis had to leave next day. I do not think Washington is ready for him.

THERE WERE a lot of heart-warming touches at the dinner. Miss Dorothy Shay, who sings hillbilly songs, was pretty nervous at the distinguished array of guests. She particularly wanted to meet General Eisenhower.

This was arranged—and the young lady almost swooned in delight. But this was the part I liked. Up in the President's suite later, Ike was overheard telling a friend proudly:

"You know—that hillbilly girl came up and spoke to me."

EDDIE CANTOR, who was master of ceremonies, started something when he said:

"Many months ago President Truman played the piano for Joe Stalin. Maybe it was a coincidence, but right after that reports leaked out that Stalin was a very sick man. The President plays everything from Back to boogie-woogie. But somehow—when he plays them—they all sound like the "Missouri Waltz.""

The President, in his reply, brought down the house. He said:

"Stalin likes Mozart and I played some for him. But all the musicians in the place mistook it for Beethoven!"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: A famous flying general is the key figure in an episode which may rate a Congressional investigation . . . We lost more than 70 bombers—a costly loss in top men as well as machines—as a result of the tragic failure by some one in command to give the bombers and their crews protection from Nazi fighter-planes . . . The disaster was so serious that Gen. Hap Arnold, who is not, the general against whom the unofficial blame is placed, appeared in London the day after the debacle.

AN INVESTIGATION was held forthwith, and three ranking officers were punished . . . But the men of that particular command resented that handling of the situation, and morale suffered . . . A great deal of talk was generated, too.

THE FEELING OF many of the Yank fliers was that the man chiefly responsible had escaped censure, and this conclusion seems to have rankled in the minds of many of the men . . . The scuttlebutt finally has reached Congress, and important men in both legislative branches have been asked to look into the story . . . If official action takes place, we shall be able to be more specific.

CONNIE RYAN, BRAVES' infielder who jumped from appraisal at $7500 to ten times that value after one splendid year with the Boston club, is out of uniform and back in Boston . . . Connie arrives as his ball yard, Braves Field, is being fitted with lights for night baseball . . . Work gets underway tonight, in fact.

PAUL V. THURLOW'S cozy little Castaways' Club, a Florida refuge on the edge of the water near Melbourne and Vero Beach, is getting an early start on the season . . . Business is so promising that Mr. Thurlow, who runs the Cape Cod steamship company in the summertime, is building six new cottages on the beautiful grounds . . . A feature of local interest is that Bostonians are given preference, as a matter of policy, over residents of other places in filling reservations.

THE SHERATON Corp., the Boston-operated hotel chain, has taken over another well-known hotel, the 21st Sheraton hostelry . . . The Bon-Air, in Augusta, Ga., is the new unit in the Sheraton chain . . . It is situated within five minutes distance of Bobby Jones' nationally-famous championship golf course in that Georgia city . . . It might not be amiss here to comment on the booming business that has come to be the regular thing at the Sheraton-owned Myles Standish, under the direction of Gil Johnson, one of the best liked hotel executives in the East.

THE STANDISH cocktail lounge, featuring Arthur Ray, at the piano and Dick Betts, at the organ, has the ropes out continuously . . . The hotel's new English Room, with a supper menu so inclusive as to range in variety from steaks to waffles, has caught on as a late spot . . . The English Room is being done over, but—as in the case of the Fox and Hounds' Rumba Casino which, is being redecorated from foyer to bandstand—the refurbishing process does not interfere with business . . . Work is done in the hours between the early morning curfew and the start of business later in the morning.

LT. JOHN AHERN of Station 2 has been accepted by the famous FBI school . . . In predicting that Abp. Spellman of New York would be the first American Pope (after becoming a Cardinal, of course) a Sunday night radio commentator certainly made a "prediction" of things to come which would seem to be as unforeseeable as almost any human event imaginable . . . As the world knows, a Pope is elevated only when the reigning prelate he succeeds has gone to his reward.

THE 57TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Hines of F st., South Boston, will be celebrated Nov. 26 . . . Mother and father of the numerous and famous Hines boys and girls—the five sons are Maj. Paul, Patrick, George, Walter and Dr. Francis D.—were married in St. Augustine's Church in 1888 . . . Mr. and Mrs. Hines have lived in the same neighborhood ever since . . . Horticultural hint: The seeds of the alligator pear and of the sweet potato make beautiful plants which can be made to survive indoors all winter . . . A rumor has made the rounds that nylons can be found in a Boston department store, but that they are being sold in the furniture department. (Perhaps they are nylons for the legs of chairs and tables.)

Norma Netcher Seeks to Rewed

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19—Norman Hall Netcher, patent medicine heiress who was divorced from Townsend Netcher, Chicago department store magnate, last August, is getting a second divorce from her former bridegroom.

Norma will leave for Las Vegas shortly after New Year's, she tells me, because she wants to marry Robert Livingston, popular cowboy film star who has quite a following among the girls.

Bob, who also recently was granted an interlocutory decree, will have to get another divorce before he can wed the lovely heiress.

Now—never a care about my hair—

says Romo Vincent

"HONESTLY, you'd think that a man with a thick, healthy-looking head of hair like mine would never worry about it at all! Well, I used to worry—and plenty—until I took Thomas treatment. Now my hair looks better, and my scalp feels as soft and healthy as a baby's," says Romo Vincent, stage and screen star.

What are you doing to give your hair the kind of attention and care that it needs? Why not follow Mr. Vincent's example—consult a Thomas expert. Lindbergh Backs Atomic Plan

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh was on record today as endorsing "in principle" the proposals for sharing the secrets of atomic energy production if effective United Nations controls are set up.

In one of the few public statements since before the war, the famous flier expressed his belief the President and prime ministers had "taken a wise and courageous stand."

"I have not changed my belief that World War II could have been avoided," he said.

This Is My Story ★ ★

By Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.

The men I had to leave behind at Sheng Tai Tun, when the Japs moved me to my final prison camp, underwent a miserable 1944-1945 winter. They, too, received Red Cross packages on the day we parted. But the Japs took charge of the goods, and to make certain the men did not store any away, punched holes in each can of meat and opened other foods so as to make the matter go bad unless consumed quickly.

But the meat, cheese, canned butter and powdered milk in the packages worked miracles with the men, Gen. Beebe later reported to me. They gained weight after we left until most of them were within 20 or 25 pounds of normal.

The long months of starvation and their advancing years, however, had caused serious dental troubles.

Finally, the Japs listened to their constant plea and permitted them to hire a local dentist, proficient mainly in yanking teeth. The Japs would not allow him any materials with which to fill cavities.

To keep out temperatures that dropped as low as 45 degrees below zero, the prisoners pasted strips of paper over their loose windows and stayed close to the stoves, reading and rereading their books.

In the late winter when the Japs insisted the officers begin working on the farm, our men rejected the demand as vehemently as they had done at Shirakawa. They told the Japs of their bitter experiences at that place, and refused to listen when their new captors promised they would receive such food as they raised. As a result, lists were made of the officers who refused to work and their food was cut immediately.

But our men had one great comfort at Sheng Tai Tun. They had devised means of getting news of the outside world. An enlisted man became friendly with a Jap sentry who could speak a little English and made a bargain whereby he gave the sentry his wrist watch in exchange for three Jap newspapers. He knew Cols. Hoffman and Wood were expert translators.

Those papers were perhaps the most expensive in the history of publishing. The sentry dangerously stole them from the camp commander's office and they had to be returned at a certain time each night. All concerned took the risk, and expense—high tribute to the value of a newspaper, even a Jap one.

On May 20 the Jap commander of the camp angrily told the prisoners that since they refused to work he was sending them to Mukden, where they would find sterner treatment.

They were sent to a new prison camp which the Japs had erected near Mukden as a permanent home for Allied captives. Apparently it was built on the assumption Japan not only would win the war, but would keep many prisoners at work for years to come. For the men were told when they reported that if they obeyed all the rules, "in the next 10 or 20 years" their relatives from America would be permitted to visit them! Still, they refused to work.

The new camp lay close to a large factory, designed to turn out machine tools. More than a thousand American soldiers and sailors with mechanical training had been sent there and put to work in the summer of 1942, and 200 died of privation during their first winter.

In time the men saw here a host of opportunities to square the score with their Jap masters by sabotage and by stealing just about everything they could lift.

In one case a crew of American enlisted men, with the help of some British and Dutch, were set to work digging pits and pouring cement for the foundations of 89 new and expensive lathes. When the pits were dug they hooked a very large lathe to an electric hoist, dropped it into the hole and neatly covered it with cement before the Jap overseer could make his rounds. They set up the lathes, but the Jap discovered that 88 would not work. Vital parts had been removed by the Allied men and buried in the cement.

Tokyo sent a war production specialist to the factory and for a time it appeared that things would go very hard for a U. S. Navy technician named Savoie, foreman of the crew concerned. But Savoie blandly mis-answered all questions flung at him.

"This is the worst piece of sabotage I have ever seen," the expert shouted as he stomped off. It was a tribute to Savoie and his brave men.

The Japs made the grave mistake one day of ordering a group of our soldiers to unload a carload of sausage and dried meat for the factory commissary and then assigned too few guards to supervise the unloading. Our boys must have got away with a good half of the carload, right then and there, stuffing the sausage in pockets, shirts and down their tied pant legs. Later one of the boys picked the lock of the warehouse and the Japs lost much of what they had been able to save in the first place.

The Japs began searching the men on their return each evening to the prison camp, and for a time it appeared the holiday was over. But one clever soldier devised a false bottom for the large food buckets which were carted from camp to factory each morning and returned empty each night. Traffic in small stores such as tobacco and small-packaged food picked up briskly.

The cost of a can of milk, or pound of powdered milk, rose to $25; a 12-ounce can of corned beef was worth as much; a package of American cigarets brought $6. The enlisted men were given more to eat than the officers, so the latter occasionally even bought leftover food. Sour flour buns sold for $1 each, with more buckers than the men could supply. One boy is said to have amassed nearly $25,000 at Mukden.

Another American soldier, of Polish extraction, got out of the factory one evening with a bottle of ink and a few pencils—a priceless haul in view of the extreme shortage of such things at camp. The bottle was too big to get in the false bottom of a food bucket, but the Polish boy recalled that the Jap sentry seldom inspected the under portion of the food bucket cart. So he climbed under and was fastening the haul to the bottom when a Jap soldier seized him and the ink and pencils, and dragged him off.

He was marched to the guardhouse, where he told the same story. The Jap guards leaped on him and gave him an excruciating beating.

They made him stand at attention in front of the guardhouse all that bitter night, beat him several times the next day but never shook his story.

(Tomorrow: The General's last days of captivity.)

—FIXIN' THE BIRD—

Give Your Turkey A Royal Setting

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

TIPS ON MAKING this a super Thanksgiving start with the bird. It must taste good, of course, but wouldn't you like it to look like those in pictures? For the sake of serving forth the most beautifully roasted bird possible, follow these rules:

First, stuff the bird lightly (too much stuffing may make the skin pop during roasting) - and truss to hold legs and wings close to the body. Place turkey in an uncovered roaster, breast, side up. Brush the skin with melted shortening or salad oil. Roast in a moderate oven (300 deg. F.), allowing 20 minutes per pound for a 10 to 15 lb. bird; 18 minutes per pound for a 15 to 20 lb. bird. (Based on drawn weight—minus head, feet and organs.)

And then for a rich velvety gravy, smooth as damask and full-flavored as a wine of ancient vintage. Pour the drippings from the pan, then measure back into the roasting pan 2 tablespoons of them for every cupful of gravy. Add the same amount of flour and cook, stirring until the mixture is well blended and a good brown. Add 1 cup of water for each 2 tablespoons of fat and flour used. Cook until gravy boils, stirring continuously. Then add salt and pepper to taste

GARNISHING TURKEY

Lavish garnishment of the turkey is not desirable or necessary. Anything more than a bit of salad greens puts the carver at a disadvantage. If decorating with apple rings, stuffed potatoes, or fruit baskets—all of which are splendid accompaniments to the roast turkey—provide a serving plate to which they may be transferred before carving is started. Or, better still, serve them as part of the dinner, on a platter of their very own.

Orange baskets filled with cranberry sauce are made easily. Save orange shell halves from breakfast, serrate edges with a sharp knife, then fill with cranberry sauce. Other fillings may be used such as whipped sweet potatoes or squash, currant jelly, or spiced apple sauce. For vegetable fillings, fill shell with hot whipped vegetable, and return to moderately hot oven for 10 to 15 minutes to heat thoroughly.

Plan to serve at least one of the vegetables glazed—perhaps acorn squash or sweet potatoes.

GLAZED ACORN SQUASH

Split three acorn squash in halves. Remove seeds and place cut side down on a flat baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until squash is tender. Make a syrup of ½ cup molasses, 2 tablespoons butter, and 2 tablespoons water. Brush insides of squash with the syrup and reheat in oven re-brushing squash frequently until surface is well glazed.

GLAZED CARROTS

1 bunch carrots
¼ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. molasses
1½ tsp. hot water
3 tbsp. butter or margarine

Scrape carrots and parboil. Place in a buttered baking dish and dust with salt. Cover with molasses and water. Dot with butter. Place under broiler till brown.

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES

Boil and peel medium-sized sweet potatoes. Brush them with melted fat, then lay separately in a frying pan in which an inch of molasses has been poured. Place over a slow fire and turn frequently until candied and a little brown. Two tablespoons of butter and juice of one lemon added to the molasses give a flavor that is very pleasing

Remedies for Humpty-Dumpty Skin

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

GATHER 'ROUND, all you career girls . . . who'd rather have a lovely complexion than eat . . . because you know how important it is to be nice to look at. Because you know that in this highly competitive world . . . it's the girl that's easy on the eyes that gets along in life.

Ever since we've been knee high to grasshoppers . . . most of us have heard tell that beauty is only skin deep. That it is beauty of soul which motivates a gal to her goal. We're not casting aspersions on either ideology . . . nor doubting either statement. But, usually, it is the girl with the beautiful visage . . . the flawless complexion . . . who's the cynosure of envious eyes . . . who gets the most fun out of life . . . who goes places and has a flock of eligibles at her beck and call. While the gal with the "inferiority" complexion . . . the troubled skin . . . sits home and mopes alone.

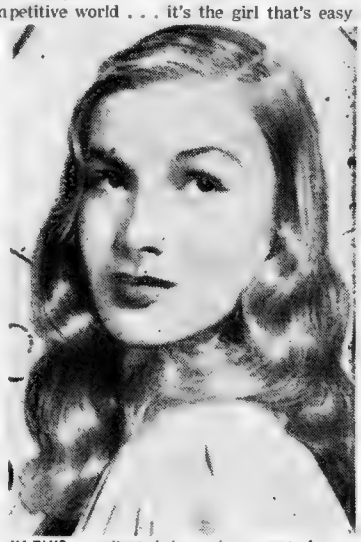
When a gal's complexion is radiant and fine . . . when it is blemish-free and clear . . . she's sitting on top of the world. For, pray tell, how can a girl express her true thoughts when her mind is harassed and constantly concerned with the blossoms on her chin . . . pus-filled, disfiguring pimples on her forehead and cheeks?

COMBAT SKIN ERUPTIONS

No humpty-dumpty complexion ever took anything but a fall. And, if this is the kind of skin you have . . . let me tell you about two simple, yet effective remedies that can restore happiness to your mind and face. The two go hand in hand.

One is a sulphur skin soap . . . containing colloidal sulphur, one of the most important correctives for oily, erupted skin. Ask any dermatologist. The other is a lotion with an unusual triple-action . . . bearing a formula number because professional ethics forbid the use of the name of the famous skin specialist whose wonderfully soothing and healing preparation it is. Besides concealing unsightly facial peskies . . . it acts as a powder base all the while its soothing, cleansing, remedial properties work beneath your makeup.

For the names of these combatants of skin eruptions, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope



IN THIS complicated day and age most of us are taken at face value . . . so the face better be good if a gal has ambitious plans for a rosy future . . . as intriguingly and hauntingly lovely as Veronica Lake's marble-smooth countenance. For the happy girl who's rushed off her feet by ardent swains is the girl with the happy complexion.

Undecided On Beau

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
My boy friend is about eight months younger than I am. He is 25. He's of the serious type, very quiet and doesn't like me to go out with other boys. I like to accept dates from other young men. We've talked about marriage.

A few weeks ago I met another young man who wants to go "steady" with me. He knows I go with someone else. Now I don't know what to do. I hate to hurt my boy friend, but I'd like to try out a new date. Still I don't want to give up a good friend for one who wouldn't be worthwhile. UNDECIDED.

Well, my dear, yours is the classic dilemma. Why don't you make up your mind which one of these two young men you like better? Be frank with your "steady." Tell him you're not quite ready to get married and that you'd like to "shop around." If you don't want to take that chance, my advice is that you forget the second man entirely.

Announcing New Baby

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
I am going to have a baby soon, and I would like to announce its arrival by notes, instead of cards. Will you please suggest a friendly, informal wording for these notes?

S. A.

Notes announcing your baby's birth are so much more personal and appealing than cards. Your notes might read something like this:

Dear Anne:

Happy news we have to tell you and Bill . . . the new member of the Adams family has arrived! Her name is Dolores, she arrived on November twentieth, and she is a fine, sturdy young lady whose acquaintance we hope you two dear friends will make very soon. Please come in to see her some afternoon soon, say between four and five-thirty!

Dearest love to you both.

Skirts Swing and Sway

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SKIRTS that are addicted to swing, and likewise to swaying, are something to count on in new fashions. I think that the minute the regulations are eased up, you'll see a nation-wide swing to the swing skirt, with the kind of easy graceful flare to it we haven't seen for some years. Already there are dresses with skirts that have this kind of look to them even under strict control. They are the dresses with a future

One such is sketched. A new model from Chez Ninon, designed by Madame Lynn, this simple black wool dress has a skirt with a pleated, graceful front that is flattering to most women. The waist buttons on shiny black buttons, and there is a flash of vivid rose ribbon at the high neckline and wrists.

Hunt 'Kid Bandit' In Theater Holdup

WEWOKA, Okla., Nov. 19 (AP)—A nation-wide hunt for Matt Kimes centered here today after a Wewoka theater manager reported the one-time "Kid Bandit" robbed him of $1200 in box-office receipts.

It was indicated Kimes, charged with the $17,000 robbery of a Texas bank while on leave from the Oklahoma Penitentiary, had teamed with a woman.

Witnesses to the gunman's escape said he jumped into a car driven by a woman and sped away.

SHIDEHARA ROBBED

TOKYO, Nov. 19 (AP)—The newspaper Mainichi said today thieves entered a warehouse owned by Premier Shidehara and stole foreign cigarets, wine, sake and medals.

This is the Thanksgiving Day for which we have waited Four Years! Our boys coming home! Extra leaves in the table! Fruit Bowls and Nut Bowls overflowing! The huge, Browned Turkey with all the old time fixings! Plenty of savory stuffing topped with Giblet Gravy! Ruby Cranberry Sauce - Pumpkin Pies! Yes, let's give our 1945 Thanksgiving tables that bountiful, festive, colorful look and, at the same time, maintain the humility and gratefulness that prompted our Pilgrim Fathers to give thanks for their blessings. Farewell Concert

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—the many young couples reunited after long wartime separations and joyously planning a return to normal everyday living.

R. Craig Campbell of Cambridge, former captain in the U. S. Army, who spent several years in the Southwest Pacific and was later stationed at the Boston Port of Embarkation, has returned to his pre-war job which has taken him and his family to Albany to live. He married Margaret Fry of Brookline and they have an infant son. Margie left last week to set up housekeeping in Albany.

Mrs. R. Craig Campbell

Robert Bainbridge of Hingham, husband of the former Mary Hastings of Beacon st., has returned from the Pacific wearing a lt. commander's stripes and is just in time to celebrate his third wedding anniversary next Wednesday. He and Mary have gone to New York for several weeks of his terminal leave.

St. Louis will be the future home of H. Harrison Culver, former lieutenant in the Naval Reserve, and his wife, the former Elizabeth Jenney of Brookline. Harry is house hunting in St. Louis where he is in business. Elizabeth and their young son will join him soon after the New Year. In the meantime they are with Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Jenney.

Another young wife radiating happiness at the return of her husband from overseas is Mrs. Wallace Lincoln Pierce, who with Lt. Pierce and their two little daughters has just moved into their new home on Saltonstall Hill, near the Chestnut Hill reservoir. Markie is a tireless worker for the Red Cross, helping with the canteen at the arrival of troopships and is the new publicity chairman of the Junior League.

BULGARIA VOTES

SOFIA, Nov. 19 (AP)—A large percentage of Bulgarian voters was reported unofficially to have cast ballots in yesterday's single-slate national elections which had been protested by the United States as undemocratic. Voters had the choice of voting for Fatherland Front candidates or staying home.

No Worry Now

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 19 (AP)—It was night when Ernest Benjamin's car stalled in a ditch and spilled gasoline went unnoticed.

A friend, studying means to extricate the vehicle, struck a match.

There wasn't enough car left for Benjamin to worry about.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Oh boy! Drumsticks—chestnut dressin', minct pie, grapes an' raisins—Thanksgivin' is around the corner. I kin give ya the finish of the great Thanksgivin' Handicap wid Stomache Ache leadin' the field an' Yours Trooly a close second, windin' up in a dead heat wid Stomache Ache an' That Tired Feelin'! We all got plenty ta be thankful about this year; at least, most of the big worries is over. As usual, they will be a thumpin' Thanksgivin' Day party in my Grille where soup ta nuts wid turkeys is the deal. An' such turkeys! Tender as a mother's heart! I'm aimin' ta put on the feed bag at home but I'm tellin' ya, my holiday dinner at my Grille has me droolin' too! I ain't fergettin' my El Tropico Room upstairs neither. I got the stairs carpeted fer them wat comes barefooted. I think of everythin'! A night in the El Tropico Room is the same as a trip ta the tropics excep' ya don't get seasick and the expenses is a lot less. Ethel Gordon handles things up there—she is the reception committee of one an' who she don't know, jest never comes out! They's magical, tropical concoctions, ear-pleasin' music, fun an' good company in the El Tropico Room. It's my own favorite hangout as a matter of fact. Fer real fun fer an evenin', visit the El Tropico an' Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St. Advt.

Students Delve For History Test

High school pupils in public and parochial schools throughout Greater Boston were buckling down yesterday to the rewarding task of brushing up on American history, in preparation for the fourth annual Hearst Newspapers American History Awards.

Preliminary examinations will be held in all public and parochial schools on Friday, Dec. 7, the fourth anniversary of Pearl Harbor, and the four top winners will compete in elimination tests at Faneuil Hall on Dec. 17.

The Hearst awards include local prizes of $1000 in Victory Bonds and national awards totaling $25,000. Winners of the Faneuil Hall contest will be eligible for the national examinations.

The examinations will be accompanied by an essay of not more than 250 words on a subject of significance in American history, to be announced later.

3-Man Mission Tries to Sell Hingham to Higgins

By AUSTEN LAKE

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 19—You can't accuse us of not trying. We may not succeed in pursuading Andrew J. Higgins, Sr., the big ship magnate, to transfer his labor-bound industry to Hingham's $30,000,000 yard. But it won't be for lack of a convincing argument from our unimposing three-man mission which flew down from Boston at his invitation today.

Austen Lake

We three are Robert Thompson, president of Hingham's shipyard union, and Richard Duca, a union delegate, and the writer. We are the kind of faith-endowed folk who believe that Hingham holds the real solution to Higgins' labor and industrial troubles. And we are gullible enough to think we have the material that may work a miracle.

We have brought along a 40 minute Technicolor movie of Hingham's nearly new, enormous settlement of fabricating mills, shipways, shops, warehouses, piers, railheads and administration offices which experts in that line agree is the best planned and equipped shipyard in America. We've got our nerve with us, of course. Because it isn't our shipyard! It belongs to the Navy, which is taking custody of the big taxpayer's plant from Fore River in a couple of weeks.

But we assume that the Navy, or the government will not be unreceptive to a chance to lift so huge a liability from its neck, especially since a lease to private enterprise would keep it active as a military asset in event of future wars. For the Navy has little use for the vast plant except as a repository for dead storage of odds and ends.

So Hingham has a magnificent yard lying idle and ready for occupancy. And Hingham has an independent labor union, with no affiliations with the A F of L or the CIO, whose autocratic bargaining, so Higgins says, forced him to close his New Orleans plant and liquidate his properties.

President Thompson and Delegate Duca, as heads of a union which recently numbered 20,000 comes with authority to assure Higgins a long-term contract which will guarantee him the same cordial labor relations as existed at Hingham since its origin, during which no work stoppage occurred. Thompson and Duca are spokesmen for a union which is endorsed by the National Labor Relations Board.

So, if Andrew Higgins is genuinely sincere in his wish to dismantle his New Orleans plant and move to more enterprising regions, here's his chance. For this little delegation, admittedly gambling on a long shot, has two advantages which none of the many other localities now dickering with Higgins has to offer; (1) security in his labor relations, (2) tailor-made ship yard. No other delegation can furnish either.

Higgins told me by long distance phone that he is being stormed by industrial, political and real estate boosters from all over the country—from Florida to Texas, from California to the Middle West. They come, he says, armed with architests' dream drawings, with the prayers of the local chapter of Kiwanians and Rotarians, with fancy facts and figures. The Governors of several states have visited him in frock coats and candy-striped trousers. Congressmen have wheedled him by wire.

And all we three little guys have is a colored movie and the assurance of an independent, temperate union. That, and the conviction we have what Higgins needs—if he is sincere in wanting to pull up his New Orleans roots.

Higgins confessed by phone that he has no knowledge of the Hingham property other than he knows it exists. He said that he would be open-minded; that he personally had no aversion to moving his enterprises to New England and said some nice things about us, except he thought we had our share of stuff-shirts and folk with lead in the pants. But he evinced some doubt that his four adult sons, all born in the South, would relish operating in the North. That's an obstacle we can't do anything about.

But he repeated his determination to liquidate and move—where, he could not guess.

Thompson keynoted our tiny mission by saying on the night plane, "This is only the kickoff. Our big play is to pursuade Higgins to visit Hingham and personally investigate conditions and values. Our whole hope is that, as a solid business man, he will recognize a bargain that happens once in a lifetime."

So on the principle that if Mahomet will not come to New England's industrial mountain, the mountain must go to Mahomet, Thompson and Duca flew to New Orleans with the blessings of their union. "Of course we could have stayed home," said Trompson, "and let nature take its course. Or we can do what we are doing, however feeble it may seem to march in where angels fear to tread. We have something real and honest to trade Mr. Higgins. Even if we don't get all of him, we might get a part. And even if we don't get anything, we've made the effort."

That's the keynote of the mission. We're TRYING and if we come back empty handed—as we probably will, the worst in casualties will be a few futilely exploded brain cells, a few wasted manhours and dollars, and a satisfaction that we didn't sit lazily on a stump while chancy opportunity whizzed by. At least we are trying to climb over the tailboard.

Kopf's Support Slips Despite Fine Coaching

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Kate Smith and the Yanks have departed Boston for the season, and when the moon shines over the mountain next fall, how many faces among the 1945 Yanks will be among the missing? Well, how many would you keep after watching Don Hutson and Green Bay embarrass 33,748 Sunday customers by blanking the Yanks 28-0?

The Brooklyn delegation will go, naturally. That includes Manders, Sergienko, Smith, Parker, Leon, Masterson et al. But how about Herb Kopf?

"He's a dead duck," agreed the Monday morning quarterbacks who went on to say that the Yanks' coach is in disfavor with Bill Shea and Ted Collins.

Shea's penchant for second-guessing Kopf is well known to all who visit the Fenway press room. And since Shea is Collins' legal adviser and chum, his opinion not only carries plenty of weight with the owner, but he may be expressing the owner's opinions.

Has Kopf been a failure? It has been agreed he is the most conscientious of coaches. It has been agreed he did a grand job with poor material last year. However, with guys like Ace Parker, Pug Manders and Babe Dimancheff around, big things were expected of him in '45 by the front office.

He started well, no question. Victories over the Steelers (2), Redskins and a tie with the Giants kept the Yanks up with the leaders. That 10-9 defeat by Detroit seemed to break their back, for they were routed by the Redskins in Washington, and the job the Packers did on them is hardly worth recounting.

Cafego fumbled in the fourth minute of the first period, Packers recovered on the Yank 28, and on two spinner plays Brock raced through the center of the Yanks line for a TD. The Yanks line was porous as a sieve.

The Yanks remained in the game, however, until the dying minutes of the second period. Then after McKay punted outside at the Yanks eight, Cafego tried a pass from the goal line that former Notre Dame captain Bernie Crimmins intercepted on the 15 and ran for a second TD.

That was the turning point of the game. Just before the first half gun was fired a Comp-Brock pass took the Packers from their 41 to the Yanks 14, and a Comp-Hutson pass registered for the third TD.

So there it was 21-0 at the half where two minutes before it was only 7-0.

Can you blame the coach for that?

The Monday morning QBs say yes indeed. What is your opinion?

KOPF HAS BEEN EXCELLENT

One thing: It is no cinch to take a group of Brooklyn players and a group of Boston players who between them won only two games last year, and expect to beat teams like Green Bay and the Redskins. While the playoff dough is in sight, visiting firemen will scrap. Until that 10-9 defeat by Detroit, in fact until that pasting in Washington, Kopf's menage did scrap. Then, with the playoffs only a dream, the Brooklyn boys seemed to lose interest. And a house divided against itself cannot stand.

So where does Herb Kopf stand? Bill Shea will let you know shortly.

Hutson completed 5 of the 8 passes thrown to him, one for a TD, and kicked 4 points after. A good day, despite the fact the Yanks had two men (Davis and Mathews) covering him . . . Ted Fritsch trampled Davis and Mathews as if they were lightweights. He runs like Ted Coy and Bronko Nagurski used to, like Blanchard does . . . The Yanks say Detroit has the best line in the league but agree that the Packers' line is smarter. And didnt the Yanks look like pygmies compared to Sorenson, Lipscomb, Starret et al? . . . The Yanks, it would seem, were just outclassed in weight and material.

HC in Bowl Field Despite 14-6 Upset

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 19 (AP)—Without having to throw a single block or make a single tackle, Duke University crashed to the front of the Orange Bowl picture in a hectic weekend of football which saw three candidates for a bid to the New Year's game here get smeared.

The defeat of two eastern hopefuls—Holy Cross and Penn State—and St. Mary's in the Far West moved the idle Blue Devils to the top of the list, the Orange Bowl schedule committee said.

The Blue Devils, beaten only by mighty Army and Navy this season, would play a Southeastern Conference team, if selected.

A 33-0 loss to Michigan State virtually eliminated Penn State from Orange Bowl considerations, but Holy Cross and St. Mary's managed to stay in the running, although far behind Duke, Temple and a trio of undefeated, untied teams—Oklahoma A. & M., Virginia and Colorado. Temple bounced back on the list by upsetting Holy Cross, 14-6. St. Mary's was beaten by USLA, 13-7, in its season finale.

Saturday's games shed little light on the identity of the Southeastern Conference's representative. Alabama, Mississippi State and Georgia cantered to easy victories, and LSU squeezed past Georgia Tech, 9-7. Tennessee was idle.

There is no chance of a selection being made, the committee said, until after Dec. 1 when Mississippi State plays Alabama, Georgia meets Georgia Tech, and LSU battles Tulane.

Three Orange Bowl prospects close their schedule this week, Colorado against Denver Thursday, Oklahoma A. & M. against Oklahoma Saturday, and Holy Cross against Boston College Sunday.

Conn. Back Leads Eastern Scorers

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Walter Trojanowski, of the University of Connecticut, virtually clinched the Eastern Collegiate individual football scoring race by romping for four touchdowns against Boston University Saturday in his last game of the season.

The returned war veteran wound up with 22 touchdown for 132 points in eight games and holes a 36 point edge over the Army's touchdown twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, who have one game left to play.

Davis and Blanchard jumped into a second place tie at 96 points each scoring three touchdowns against Penn. Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross, fell to fourth by failing to score against Temple.

Trojanowski was blanked in one game, failing to score against Franklin-Marshall, the only game his team lost. Of his 22 six-pointers, six were scored against Worcester, six against Maine in two games, four against Boston University, three against Amherst. The others came against Middlebury and Lehigh.

The East's leading scorers (top 15):

	G	TD	PAT	FG	TP
Trojanowski, Ct.	8	22	0	0	132
Davis, Army	8	16	0	0	96

Jake LaMotta Like Greb When Under Fire in Ring

By JACK CONWAY

JAKE LaMOTTA, New York middleweight who clashes with the spectacular Popeye Woods in a ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Friday night, reminds one of Harry Greb of Pittsburgh who was one of the greatest middleweight champions in the history of the ring.

Greb fought "Kid" Norfolk, Pal Reed and other leading men of his fistic period in Boston rings, and had many followers here.

Jake LaMotta

Greb became world's middleweight champion by virtue of a 15-round victory over Johnny Wilson at the Polo Grounds, New York. In defeat, Wilson put up one of the best battles of his career, and the bout could have been called a draw.

Greb fought middleweights, light heavyweights and heavyweights with equal success. He was perpetual motion when in the ring. Harry had to do considerable last-minute sweating out to make the middleweight notch of 160 pounds for Wilson. I dropped in at Greb's quarters at the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York, two hours before the weighing in ceremonies. I found Greb skipping rope with Reddy Mason, his manager, keeping time.

"Getting off the last pound of flesh," said Greb with a smile.

Greb, a human windmill, once boxed Jack Dempsey in a New York gym. He moved so fast Dempsey could not hit him. Later Dempsey refused an offer of $100,000 to box Greb in a six-round no-decision bout in Philadelphia.

When Gene Tunney was first attracting attention, Greb beat him. Tunney, however, later proved he was Harry's master. Greb had great faith in Tunney's ability to win from Dempsey at Philadelphia. He bet $20,000 on Tunney to win and got odds of 10 to 3.

I DO NOT believe LaMotta could conquer Greb if he had met the latter when he was at the top of his fistic career, but he does possess many of the ring qualities that gained fame for the Pittsburgh warrior.

LaMotta is aggressive, throws punches from every angle, and likes to stand up and trade blows with his fistic rival.

LaMotta's object is a title bout with Tony Zale, middleweight champion. Zale has been unable to defend his title on account of the fact he is in the Navy. When I last saw Zale in action, he gave Billy Conn a stirring ten-round session. The decision in favor of Conn was not popular with all of the fans who witnessed the New York Garden bout.

LaMotta and Zale would make an attractive match. Neither goes in for fancy boxing. It would likely develop into a two-handed punching duel.

Popeye Jack-in-Box

POPEYE WOODS, who will oppose LaMotta at the Garden on Friday night, is a Jack-in-the-box performer. He comes bobbing out of his corner, hits from every angle, and bounces around the ring in the most unothodox manner.

Popeye looked impressive as he stopped Reedy Evans and outscored Coley Welch. He has amazing speed for one 37 years of age. He appears tireless when in the ring.

LaMotta will have to hit Popeye to slow him up. Jake may find it difficult catching up with the evasive Woods who clowns and laughs his way out of many awkward situations.

The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the bout after the deduction of taxes. It is expected that the tussle will attract a capacity crowd to the Garden.

OKAY, GANG! START SMACKING YOUR LIPS! COME AND GET IT!
WELL—WE MIGHT AS WELL BEGIN THE DEATH MARCH, AS SOMEBODY SAID, "THE VALIANT DIE BUT ONCE."
THERE'S EVERYTHING IN THAT MESS, BUT THE FAUCETS OFF THE SINK. I DON'T TOUCH A BITE UNTIL SOME SLICKER EATS IT AND LIVES—
REMEMBER! I AM ONLY HIS WIFE. I HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS!

Pre-Holiday Games Exact Heavy Toll

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schedule makers will think twice before they sign up games for the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day's objectives after Saturday's bruising tilts on the schoolboy front left the holiday headliners gasping for breath.

Everett, outstanding contender for state championship honors, and Malden—in particular—will be seriously reconsidering after their hot tussle.

This contest developed into a slam-bang affair—featuring some nifty wrestling and boxing in the third period—and as a result of the rugged play, both squads felt the pressure as they returned to practice today. It wouldn't be at all surprising if both held very light workouts until Thursday's wind-ups—Malden against Medford and Everett against Chelsea.

Starting teams of both schools were badly bruised with no player escaping. End Frank Lionette, center Bill Vesprini and end Amando Mazzone headed the list of Coach Dennie Gildea's injured. Tackle John Minahan, 245-pounder, bore the brunt of Everett's fury in the Malden line.

This was undoubtedly one of the roughest games in years. Officials handed out 280 yards in penalties and the majority of these were for 15-yarders for unnecessary roughness. Both will feel the full effect of the battle the holiday morning—and it could be particularly costly for Everett, going after its 8th straight and the state title.

Malden operated on the theory that Everett would be weak on pass defense but Coach Gildea had a sleeper on his squad in sub back Ed Comerford who failed to break into the line-up against Lynn English the previous week. Comerford, fully prepped for Malden, chipped in with three interceptions that resulted in two touchdowns.

Comerford, Don DiMott and George Strahan filled their roles as defensive backs perfectly in the 39-6 romp.

In the Class B standings, Brookline and Quincy took over leading roles with Coach Harry Downes' outfit on the verge of the championship with traditional Newton in its path . . . the Granite City's best, if Brookline wins, would be a second place . . . Saugus' surprising set-back at the hands of Marblehead ruined the hopes of the defending titlists.

Coach Joe Zapustas, ex-South Boston and Mission High, can take a bow as co-champion of Class D with his Stetson High eleven of Randolph . . . Stetson's 14-0 triumph over Hanover, defending crown-holder, sent the team roaring into a deadlock with Dartmouth which had already completed its season.

The Boston schoolboy teams will start the beginning of the end of their Braves Field programs today . . . a single game will pit Brandeis Vocational against Charlestown . . . tomorrow afternoon, Hyde Park will tangle with Jamaica Plain and Roslindale will meet Brighton.

Harris-Tony Go Tops Ring Card

Jackie Harris, Malden, squares off with Young Tony, Newark, in the 10-round feature of a Callahan A. C. boxing show tonight at Mechanics Building.

round feature of a Callahan A. C. boxing show tonight at Mechanics Building.

Harris, who made a clean-up of amateur titles before going to war with the Army Air Force, returned several months ago to start a new streak. He won five straight, including an impressive eight-round knockout of Jerry Zullo, before bumping into Young Tony (nee Oshiro, an Hawaiian-American) a few weeks ago in Fall River.

Young Tony "jinxed" Harris by holding him to a draw.

Three other 10-rounders support the Harris-Young Tony tangle. Johnny Cesario, North Ender who trains with Willie Pep and boxes like him, will try to chalk up his 37th straight win against Tom Daniels, Pittsburgh; Big Boy Baker, Everett, meets Dick Tracy, Newark heavyweight; and Spider Armstrong, Boston via Toronto, faces Al Minutoli, New York. Armstrong, who has moved his belongings to the Hub, is highly rated; will be making his debut here.

Baker has won 12 of 13 starts, losing only to Abel Cestak, Luis Angel Firpo's protege from the Argentine.

Ducks Migrating Toward This Area

By TAP GOODENOUGH

Former Instructor of Ski Troops For Army

Massachusetts duck hunters, who have been scanning the skies for weeks, hopefully watching for the big flights from Canada, may take encouragement from this word just received from Tom Main, General Manager of Ducks Unlimited, at Winnipeg. Concerning the fall migration, he states that a heavy movement of Mallards, Bluebills, and Pintails started Oct. 29th, gaining spectacular proportions on Nov. 3rd. Several days later, only a few thousands hardy Mallards remained in the vast "duck factory" of Western Canada.

Sounds great! However, the warm, calm weather that has prevailed locally is hardly suitable for duck hunting; freezing cold, driving winds, and a northeast blow are needed to cause the flights to swing inland along our shores . . . And the elements, fickle as they are, indeed, in New England, may aid the waiting nimrods at any minute.

Ducks Unlimited also reports a very small increase in the feathered targets this fall compared to a year ago . . . More than 10,000 ducks were banded this season, making a total of about 42,000 since 1939.

Gunners are urged to report all banded ducks killed to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C. By doing thus, the work for the sport and conservation is aided.

OUTDOOR O. O.'s—Fred Toon, No. Quincy, and Ken Sears, Cape Codder, have been bagging their share of black ducks this season. They've also downed a few quail around Barnstable and Marshfield, with the help of Ken's nice setter.

The upland season on birds ends tomorrow, which is just as well, for the sport was spotty, to say the least! . . . Pheasants hugged the thick covers, and grouse were unusually scarce in their regular haunts . . . Fox, coon, and rabbit hunters, along with a growing number of trappers, seem to be taking the chief game harvest this fall.

The New England Cover Dog Field Trial Ass'n will stage a trial for setters and pointers at Sandwich, Nov. 24 and 25. Entries should be sent to Edward Pease, East Pembroke, before the drawing closes Friday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 p. m.

NOW YOU TELL ONE!—The Polish-American Club in the Whittenton section of Taunton has a new trophy—a stuffed pheasant. The bird wasn't shot, but rammed into a big plate glass window at the Club, breaking its neck and the window!

Brown Coach Picks Yale Over Harvard

Rip Engel, Brown coach whose team defeated Yale two weeks ago and lost to Harvard Saturday, told Boston's football writers at their weekly luncheon today that he expected the Blue to win from Dick Harlow's team Dec. 1.

"Yale has the better line," said Engel. "It is bigger and stronger than Harvard's. We played inspired football against Yale, and we got a break when Paul Walker was forced out early in the game. Yale seemed to wilt after his departure."

Ox Da Grosa of H. C., Dick Harlow, Marion Roberts of Brockton High, John P. Curley of B. C. were other speakers.
